2011 Vancouver Golf Show

Attending a Golf Show is always a good start to the golf season - a chance to try out new equipment and speaks to manufacturer representatives, see what new clothing is in style and what bargains are to be had.

The Vancouver Golf Show is back March 19 - 20 at the Vancouver Conference Center after a one year absence due to the Olympics. With BC Place under construction, the new Conference Center will be a great venue with lots of parking and good public transit access.

British Columbia Golf will be in attendance at the show with information on programs and displays. We will have a setup showing off the equipment used in the school golf program.

Attendees will also find information on golf destinations in BC and you will be able to talk to course and resort representatives about what is new as well as to get information on package offers. Prices at the show are among the best available in the year.

You can get more information on the show at their website.
